

Reporting from war zones

#1hJungeDGOonWeb extended

Experts on Eastern Europe deal with an area that is rich of innerstate and interstate conflicts. Some of these conflicts reach the level of a large-scale war as we witness, e.g., in the Donbas and only recently in Nagorno Karabakh.

Experts on Eastern Europe and journalists are much-needed for analyzing these conflicts and keeping society as well as decision makers informed about the reality on the ground.

While reporting from and about war zones journalists are faced with various questions:

How to gain safe access to war scenes?

How to stay impartial?

How to report about victims of war in a dignified way?

How to mentally cope with witnessing war and crime scenes?

How to find and preserve the border between reporting and activism?

Together with our panelists we will discuss the question of reporting from war zones. Join our session!

Panelists:

Kateryna Malofieieva (Video Producer, Kyiv)

Thore Schröder (Journalist, Beirut) (tbc)

Abit Hoxha (Universities of Agda and Munich)

Moderation: Ricardo Bergmann (Junge DGO, Yerevan)

07.12.2021 | 6–7:30 pm (CET)/ 7–8:30 pm (OET) | Zoom

To receive the login data please register

by December 6 via mail:

jungedgo@dgo-online.org

#1hJungeDGOonWeb

Deutsche Gesellschaft für Osteuropakunde e. V.
Junge DGO AG Veranstaltungen

dgo-online.org

DGO
JUNGE DGO